

*“My members expect more for their money.
So why shouldn't I?”*

- Steve Swofford, President/CEO, Alabama Credit Union

A lot has changed in my 30 years in the credit union movement. But one thing remains the same: our members expect us to save them money. So we're always on the lookout for ways to help us meet that demand. It's one of the things that led us to Triton ATMs. With Triton, we just get more for our money. Which allows us to do what we do best: give our members more for their money. Lower-cost loans. Higher dividends on savings. Lower fees on financial products. After all, that's why our members choose us over big banks in the first place. They expect everything they'd get from our competitors, and more. And that's precisely what I've come to expect from Triton.
